TALK OF THE TOWN

Don't fail to read Shea's adv. James Sector, Jr., and William Stuart were among the Barre football fans who went to Middlebury to-day to witness the game between Norwich university and Middlebury college.

Rev. G. F. Fortier of Morrisville, field secretary of the Universalist church of Vermont and the Province of Quebec, was here yesterday and to-day. He was accompanied by Mrs. Fortier and child.

Friends of Henry Fasola and Adolfo Comoli, who enlisted in a mechanics' unit last summer, will be gratified to learn that news of their safe arrival overseas has been received in this city.

The vanguard of a party of Barre hunters who maintain a camp in the woods of Essex county left this morning for Maidstone to establish lines of communication and to prepare the camp for the open season on deer. Among those who were on the grounds early were George E. Bond and Stanley O. Marsh. Others who are interested in the camp will make the trip to Essex county tomorrow and Monday.

Among the guests arriving at Hotel Barre last night and this morning were the following people: S. J. Gompers and H. J. Gompers of Washington, D. C., Mr. and Mrs. M. W. Abbott and E. S. Barrows of Waterbury, R. H. May of Essex, Charles T. Grant of Providence, R. I., Rev. and Mrs. G. F. Fortier and child and Mrs. H. L. Stevens of Morrisville, Louis Myers of Thetford, C. G. Collins of St. Johnsbury, H. N. Arns of Hanover, N. H., E. J. Averill and A. T. Rogers of Newport, P. K. Nott of Troy, James F. Cross of Northfield.

Nut day, as designated by Governor Graham, found many Barre children enrolled in the task of gathering nut shells to be turned over to the government for use in the manufacture of gas masks for the soldiers. Some of the fruit dealers aided the cause by urging their patrons to save the shells of nuts purchased of them and of conserving also the pits of peaches, plums, etc. New England is far behind its quota in the quantity of nut shells and fruit pits furnished, and throughout the northeastern section a special effort was made to-day to make up the deficiency.

Ripe strawberries, quite as luscious as the fruit that is picked at the height of the season, were brought to The Times office this morning by Mrs. A. W. Clark of Troy hill, whose everbearing strawberry plants have supplied her with fruit at regular intervals throughout the season. This week she picked three quarts of fine berries and there were enough left on the plants to insure a sizeable sample for exhibition purposes. The plants bear every two months, and were it not for the cold season they would yield throughout the winter.

For tampering with a fire alarm box in a manner contrary to the city ordinances, John M. Kinney, who resides at 350 North Main street, was fined $5 and costs of $8.55 in Judge H. W. Scott's court Friday afternoon. City Attorney William Wisnart, who received the complaint, told the court that Kinney was discovered in the act of tampering with the alarm box at the corner of Blackwell street, opposite the Whitcomb Bros. plant, so-called. The respondent entered a plea of guilty and is arranging to pay the fine and costs.

Four respondents paid penalties for intoxication offenses when arraigned before Magistrate H. W. Scott in municipal court this morning. Gust Randa of Woodville, N. H., charged with a subsequent offense, was fined $15 and costs. Complaint in the case was made yesterday afternoon by an autoist when the respondent got in the way of his car. Virgil Coddington of Granvilleville, acknowledging a second offense, paid a $15 fine with costs. George A. Simonds of this city, charged with a subsequent offense, paid a similar fine, with costs attached. Leroy C. Baker of Montpelier was assessed the minimum fine of $5 and costs for a first offense.

By reason of the fact that it has a war chest, Barre will not have to pass through an intensive drive for United War Work funds when the national campaign is inaugurated next week. The city's quota is $21,000, and it is the decision of the trustees and the disbursing committee of the war chest that the money shall be appropriated from the chest. To make good, however, subscribers who are in arrears must remove their delinquencies, and the maximum of co-operation will be reached if such subscribers will make it a point to settle at once. Elsewhere in the county, town committees, acting under the direction of the county chairman, Harry Daniels of East Montpelier, have completed plans for an energetic campaign.

H. P. Hinman of Orange street, chairman of the publicity department of the Vermont united war work campaign, has returned from a week's tour of the west side of the state, in the course of which a number of county conferences were held for the purpose of completing the details in the campaign plans. The meetings were in charge of Earle S. Kinney of Rutland, chairman of the state committee, and the speakers included a number of out of the state people who are active in the work of the seven constituent organizations represented in the united war work movement of next week. Wherever county conferences had been planned, the workers were met by representative gatherings and much enthusiasm was aroused. The meetings ended with a conference in Grand Isle yesterday.

To-day marks the close of clean up week, and as the street department collectors have been favored with good weather, it is probable that the schedule mapped out by the aldermanic health committee will be completed to-night. If any streets or byways remain unvisited, the collectors will be abroad early Monday to finish their work. The health committee has experienced a recurrence of trouble with scavengers at the city dump, where most of the garbage collected is deposited by the street department. Two of their efforts to catch some of the scavengers in the act of picking over the refuse nearly met with success. According to the drivers of the garbage team, one of the offenders made his escape only because he was able to get away in a discarded fordrad which he had uncovered in the debris at the end of Brook street.

City hall has witnessed a rush for hunting licenses this week, and as to-day was the last opportunity for a hunter to equip himself with the legal permit before the opening of the deer season, it was not unexpected that the demand would slacken much until the clerk's office is closed this evening. The open season on deer begins at sunrise Monday and continues to Nov. 20. To-day marked the departure of a number of hunting parties, bound in various directions, and others will join in the exodus tomorrow. Every mountain town within a radius of 50 miles may have a Barre hunter within its limits before Monday, as many camps are maintained by local people and they already have been put in readiness for the hunt. An augmented force of deputy game wardens is to help the county fish and game authorities in their patrol work while the season is on.

TALK OF THE TOWN

Read Shea's new adv., page 4. William Barclay of Patterson street was a recent business visitor in St. Johnsbury.

Mr. and Mrs. William Woodward have been passing two weeks with relatives in Waterbury Center.

James C. Johnston of Tremont street has returned home, after passing a few days in Burlington on business.

Louis Myers of Thetford was a business visitor in the city yesterday, returning to his home this morning. The boy scouts are asked to meet A. C. Moore at Moore & Owens' store at 4 o'clock this afternoon to distribute United War Work campaign literature.

John P. McDonnell of Buffalo, N. Y., is passing a few days in the city on business connected with the granite manufacturing plant of McDonnell & Sons.

News is received here of the safe arrival overseas of Mason O. Pierce and Newell Parker, both of whom were students in one of the mechanics' camps at Burlington last summer.

Miss Velma Coffin, who has been passing several weeks at her home on Washington street, returned this morning to Albany, N. Y., where she is enrolled as a student in a business college.

Mr. and Mrs. George W. Roberts, who have been passing two weeks in the home of the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Roberts of the Blanchard building, returned yesterday to their home in Rockland, Me.

Barre friends of William Charles, a former resident of this city, who enlisted in the navy sometime ago, will be interested to learn that he has been advanced from the rank of ensign to that of second lieutenant. He is attached to the U. S. S. Virginia.

On Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock in Howland hall, William H. Jeffrey, secretary of the Vermont board of charities and probation, will give an address before the Barre Woman's club; subject, "Child Welfare Work." Public admitted for 15c, club members by their tickets.

The entire equipment, including fixtures, dishes, silverware, provisions of all kinds, furniture, etc., etc., used in connection with the Eureka restaurant, Depot square, will be sold at public auction on Saturday afternoon, Nov. 16. Watch for advertisement. D. A. Perry, auctioneer.

Frank J. Ahern of New York and Wendell G. Ahern, a member of the students' army training corps at Harvard university, Cambridge, Mass., are expected to arrive in the city this evening, having been called here by the death of their father, James O. Ahern, who passed away this morning.
